How to write a bibliography

A bibliography is a list of references you utilized to obtain information for your research paper. It is provided at the end of the research paper on the last page or last few pages. However, when it comes to this, the common question that arises from students and researchers is how to write a bibliography. In order to make things easier, one can keep track of each book, online source, encyclopedia, article or any other references that you used as you go along with your research. You can start a preliminary or draft of your bibliography by taking notes of your sources in different sheet of paper. List down the full title, author, place of publication, publisher, and date of publication of each source. This technique will definitely remove or at least lessen the apprehension that the question "how to write a bibliography" is causing you thus making it easier for you to finalize your bibliographies later on.

For those who have the question "how to write a bibliography" in mind, formats below can help you cite your references.

BOOK CITATIONS:

- 1. Book with one author
Format: Last name, First Name, Title. Place: Publisher, Year.

The author is listed, surname first. The title should be underlined. The place where the book is published is provided followed by a colon and the name of publisher followed by comma. The year when the book is published is also provided followed by a period. Make use of the most recent copyright date. The place or the city is typically found on the title page of the book while the copyright date is usually located on the back side of the title page.

- 2. Book that has editor
Format: Last name, First name, ed. Title. Place: Publisher, Year.

ENCYCLOPEDIA AND OTHER REFERENCE BOOKS

The title of the article is the topic that you looked up in these sources. The name of the author (if there is one) is usually located at the beginning or the end of the article. The article is placed right after the name of the author and put in quotation marks. The title of the encyclopedia should be underlined. Here is how to write a bibliography for encyclopedia and other reference books.

- 1. Signed articles (An article that has an author listed)
Format:
Last name, First name, "Article Title," Name of Encyclopedia. Volume number. Place: Publisher, Year.
- 2. Unsigned articles (Articles that don't have an author listed)
Format: "Article Title," Encyclopedia Title. Volume number. City, State: Publisher, Year.
